State Has No Business In The Electric Business

Gov. William Milliken a proposal that the state develop its own electric generating plants in competition with private industry.

The Governor's Advisory Commission on Electric Power Alternatives suggested state-owned generating facilities be run by a power authority appointed by the governor and sell electricity to existing utility com-

The committee recommendation reportedly was based on a belief that the state can borrow money more cheaply than private industry and that since it does not make a profit, the state could build new facilities quicker and less expensively than existing stockholder-owner utility companies.

-Private companies have to pay taxes; the state doesn't.

—The state can sell tax-free municipal bonds that help the rich get richer, thereby drawing low rates of interest on borrowed construction money. Revenue from utility bonds is taxed, so the utility companies pay higher interest rates on their construction.

 Utility companies face a veritable battlefield of state and federal regulatory agencies having to do with safety, environment, civil rights and prac-tically everything else. The state can just change the laws to hasten construction of its own plants.

-Private utility companies have to show a profit on efficient operation and pay dividends or they go bankrupt. If the state botches up the job of generating electricity, it just passes along its mistakes to the general public in the form of statutory rate increases or extra taxes on the consumer public somewhere else along the line.

-Stockholder utility companies can't hide their losses by passing them along to other companies. They don't play that way in private industry. But the state could hide billions in inef-ficient operation by charging costs under the auditing table to other departments of government.

-And, finally, the state can be a watchdog on stockholder utilities to see that they operate efficiently and fairly. But who ever heard of the state watch-dogging itself for inefficiency or fraud? The very rare positive answers to this largely rhetorical question prove the point.

The only good thing about the Governor's Advisory Commission's recommendation is that five of 13 members had the good sense to vote against state socialism.

Too bad the other eight didn't refresh their memories with the history of postal service in the U.S. Or if that isn't sufficiently horrible, look at what's happening to the U.S. Interior Department's experiment with building a parking garage for the National Visitor Center in Washington.

The garage was supposed to cost $16 million and be completed in time for the deluge of visitors in this bicentennial year.

A funny thing happened to that garage on the way to the bicentennial. It still hasn't been completed and won't be this year. Interior has recommended to Congress that the project simply be halted at this point.
The reason? Cost estimates to complete the garage have zoomed to $52 million, and if anything at all is certain in Washington, it's a good bet it won't end there.

Lansing has no more business getting in business than Washington. About the only thing state-owned electric power stations will do for Michigan is to provide increased opportunities for tax waste and fraud. And, worst of all, help bring the nation another step closer to the end of free enterprise and individual liberty.

The Saga Of Lester Maddox

WASHINGTON — Leuter Inddox, the presidential number of the American Independent party, believer himself to be the embe the common man. And indeed he is as common as we come. Bald, bespectacled, educated only through the 19th grade, he is in no way an effete elite, ex-cept perhaps as regards race. He is merely ole Lester, 68 years of age, obsessed with himself, one of us.

He was born on the workingclass side of Atlanta, the son of a machinist who had periodic arguments with employment. His mother was a Bible-reading disciplinarian. Ded Maddox had dropped out of Georgia's school system in the third grade; morn in the eighth.

Lester was the second of five children, and remembers nothing of his childhood so much as its poverty. He dressed in patched clothing, stuffing cardboard in his shoes because the family could not afford new soles. In 1933, after his father soles. In 1935, after his inter-had lost yet another job, as well as the family home, Lester decided to follow the lead of his-elders regarding education. "I felt it was almost hopeless to continue school under those conditions." He quit to get a job.

He worked in many en-terprises. He was an apprentice dental technician, a clerk in a dental technician, a cierk in a jeweler's supply house, a soda jerk, a delivery boy, a steel worker. During World War II the man who was to become one of the most outspoken petriots of 30 years later got a job in a defense plant, and thus was recomm force the them. exempt from the draft.

None of his early employment appealed to Maddox. Besides, his ambition was to go into business for himself. During the war he used a $400 savings ac count to open a short-order shop called "Lester's Grill." It was only 10 by 14 feet, and parts of it were built from remnants of a chicken coop, but it brought of Lester from there to here. In 1947, using profits from the grill, Maddox built what was to become his own monument: Pickrick was of, by and for the common man. The white common man, naturally. Lester thought up the name himself, explaining proudly that customers would "pick" their choices, and he would "rick" (rick) the cross of the control o (pile) the orders on plates nyway, the commoners loved. By the 1930s the Pickrick was the entery for the little people of Atlanta, and ole Lester was not only their maitre-d' but their political guru. By now be was railing against "godless com-munism," and "shameless in-tegration." Ole Lester had become the biggest reducek in

He ran for office often (mayor twice, twice, lieutenant governor once), but it wasn't until 1964 that he became outrageous enough to be taken seriously. On the signing of the Civil Rights Bill of that year, three black students tried to eat in the Pickrick, and Lester kept them out at the point of a gun. He was to win this battle by closing the Pickrick down. Two years later he became the governor of Goorgia

Lester's story becomes mor familiar after this. As a nation figure he has championed the Ku Khox Klan, the John Birch Society, and a group-of his own called GUTS (Georgians Unwilling to Surrender). He has peddled axe handles, he has advised police to shoot rioters on Playboy magazine should be banned from newsstands. And he ran for president once before, in 1968, getting zero delegate votes at the Democratic convention.

Now he's in the news again He says that when he was born "Our colored woman picked me up and said, "This boy's goma be president some day." "So he's soliciting votes from all those common men who believe in segregation, in government erence, and in a God who would shoot rioters on sight. Yall come out now and vote,

State Has No Business In The Electric Business

A panel of "experts" has handed Gov. William Milliken a proposal that the state develop its own electric generating plants in competition with private industry.

The Governor's Advisory Commission on Electric Power Alternatives suggested state-owned generating facilities be run by a power authority appointed by the governor and sell electricity to existing utility com-

The committee recommendation reportedly was based on a belief that the state can borrow money more cheaply than private industry and that since it does not make a profit, the state could build new facilities quicker and less expensively than existing stockholder-owner utility companies.

Why not?

-Private companies have to pay taxes; the state doesn't.

-The state can sell tax-free municipal bonds that help the rich get richer, thereby drawing low rates of interest on borrowed construction money. Revenue from utility bonds is taxed, so the utility companies pay higher interest rates on their cons-

-Utility companies face a veritable battlefield of state and federal regulatory agencies having to do with safety, environment, civil rights and practically everything else. The state can just change the laws to hasten construction of its own plants.

-Private utility companies have to show a profit on efficient operation and pay dividends or they go bankrupt. If the state botches up the job of generating electricity, it just passes along its mistakes to the general public in the form of statutory rate increases or extra taxes on the consumer public somewhere else along the line.

-Stockholder utility companies can't hide their losses by passing them along to other companies. They don't play that way in private industry. But the state could hide billions in inefficient operation by charging costs under the auditing table to other departments of government.

-And, finally, the state can be a watchdog on stockholder utilities to see that they operate efficiently and fairly. But who ever heard of the state watch-dogging itself for inefficiency or fraud? The very rare positive answers to this largely rhetorical question prove the point.

The only good thing about the Governor's Advisory Commission's recommendation is that five of 13 members had the good sense to vote against state socialism.

Too bad the other eight didn't refresh their memories with the history of postal service in the U.S. Or if that isn't sufficiently horrible, look at what's happening to the U.S. Interior Department's experiment with building a parking garage for the National Visitor Center in Washington.

The garage was supposed to cost $16 million and be completed in time for the deluge of visitors in this bicentennial year.

A funny thing happened to that garage on the way to the bicentennial. It still hasn't been completed and won't be this year. Interior has recommended to Congress that the project simply be halted at this point.

The reason? Cost estimates to complete the garage have zoomed to $52 million, and if anything at all is certain in Washington, it's a good bet it won't end there.

Lansing has no more business getting in business than Washington. About the only thing state-owned electric power stations will do for Michigan is to provide increased opportunities for tax waste and fraud. And, worst of all, help bring the nation another step closer to the end of free enterprise and individual liberty.

Tax Bills In Lincoln Up 1 Mill This Year

The total property tax levy for t Lincoln township residents in 1976 will increase by about one mill over last year's levy, according to figures disclosed at Lincoln township board meeting last night.

The total rate includes amounts levied by school districts covering the township, various county taxing bodies and the township itself.

Township residents in the Lakeshore school district will pay property taxes based on a total levy of 42.676 mills this year. That is 1.028 mills more

The higher tax rate was due to a 1.058-mill increase in the Lakeshore school district's debt retirement levy. That increase was offset slightly by a .03-mill reduction in the levy for Lake Michigan college.

Township residents in the St. Joseph schl district will pay taxes based on a total levy of 49.016 mills.

That is .97 mills higher than last year's total of 48.046 mills. The increase came from a onemill levy initiated this year for the St. Joseph district's building and site fund. The increase was offset by the .03-mill reduction in the Lake Michigan college levy.

The few township property owners in the Bridgman school district will see their total millage rates decline slightly this year from 25.821 to 25.026 mills because of a slightly lower levy by the district.

Tax levies for the township, intermediate school district, and county government remain the same this year.

The township will again levy one mill for operations, a half mill for the library, and 2.576 mills for water and sewer debt. Each mill will raise $72,329 this year or $2,771 less than each mill raised last year.

Tax Bills In Lincoln Up 1 Mill This Year

BY LARRY MacINTYRE

The total property tax levy for most Lincoln township residents in 1976 will increase by about one mill over last year's levy, according to figures disclosed at the Lincoln township board meeting last night.

The total rate includes amounts levied by school districts covering the township, various county taxing bodies and the township itself.

Township residents in the Lakeshore school district will pay property taxes based on a total levy of 42.676 mills this year. That is 1.028 mills more than last year's total levy of 41.648 mills.

The higher tax rate was due to a 1.058-mill increase in the Lakeshore school district's debt retirement levy. That increase was offset slightly by a .03-mill reduction in the levy for Lake Michigan college.

Township residents in the St. Joseph schl district will pay taxes based on a total levy of 49.016 mills.

That is .97 mills higher than last year's total of 48.046 mills. The increase came from a onemill levy initiated this year for the St. Joseph district's building and site fund. The increase was offset by the .03-mill reduction in the Lake Michigan college levy.

The few township property owners in the Bridgman school district will see their total millage rates decline slightly this year from 25.821 to 25.026 mills because of a slightly lower levy by the district.

Tax levies for the township, intermediate school district, and county government remain the same this year.

The township will again levy one mill for operations, a half mill for the library, and 2.576 mills for water and sewer debt.

Each mill will raise $72,329 this year or $2,771 less than each mill raised last year.

TWO LIONS OF YEAR: For the first time, Benton Harbor Lions have selected co-winners for their Lion of the Year award. ## Monday Community Blood Day At St. Joseph Elks Lodge

Monday, Sept. 20, has been designated as Community Blood Day at the St. Joseph Elks club, 518 Broad street, and there will be a blood draw at the club from noon to 6 p.m., according to Mrs. Carol Green, Red Cross blood coordinator for Berrien county. The blood draw is open to the public and people may call the Red Cross office, St. Joseph, for an appointment for a convenient time. Mrs. Green said there is also a blood draw scheduled for Sept. 23 for Baroda residents at St. Johns Evangelical Lutheran church from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. Mrs. Green said the county goal for this year is again 6,000 pints, which is based on 41/2 per cent of the county's total population. She said, "Berrien residents have donated 643 pints since July 1, which is slightly less than what we had received at this same time last year, however, we did have a few more drives scheduled during this time in 1975 which would account for the difference."

Mercy Hospital In Cancer Group

Mercy hospital has joined the Association of Community Cancer Centers, Mercy Executive vice President C. T. Loftus announced today.

"Joining the Association of Community Cancer Centers was a natural step for us following the establishment of our own Oncology (cancer care) unit,' Loftus said. "It gives us the chance to help other communities and for them to help us.' Mercy hospital's Oncology unit opened in October, 1975, to provide a complete community cancer care program for tricounty area residents (Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties), and has treated 221 patients in its first nine months of service, according to Loftus. He said the Oncology unit provides special diagnostic, treatment and care ficilities which supplement the hospital's cobalt therapy and nuclear medicine facilities. It consists of a six-room, ten-bed in-patient care unit and an outpatient chemotherapy clinic.

Loftus added that Mercy hospital has invited a guest speaker from the ACCC to address area physicians at a medical seminar scheduled for October 13.

Berrien County Art Guild under the direction of its new president. Mrs. Thomas (Elizabeth) Goodgame, will change the format of its meet-ings to a series of lessons for the current year.

For the past 14 years, the Berrien County Art Guild has met twice a month with varied programs ranging from business meetings, demonstra-tions by members and lectures.

The new format, which will be on a year's trial basis, will include lessons conducted by two area instructors.

A watercolor class will begin Thursday, Sept. 16, and will be taught by Kenneth Saathoff of Niles. He holds a bachelor of fine arts from the University of Notre Dame and is a faculty member at Southwestern Michigan college. He works primarily with watercolor both as a fine art as well as a commercial artist.

The second series of lessons will begin Feb. 3, 1977, and will be taught by David Eisler, a new faculty member at Andrews university. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and taught at Washing on university, St. Louis, Mo., for six years.

All meetings and classes are held at Memorial hall, St. Joseph. Meetings will be held once a

Change Meeting Format

Includes Art Lessons

Berrien County Art Guild under the direction of its new president. Mrs. Thomas (Elizabeth) Goodgame, will change the format of its meetings to a series of lessons for the current year.

For the past 14 years, the Berrien County Art Guild has met twice a month with varied ranging from programs business meetings, demonstrations by members and lectures.

The new format, which will be on a year's trial basis, will include lessons conducted by two area instructors.

A watercolor class will begin Thursday, Sept. 16, and will be taught by Kenneth Saathoff of Niles. He holds a bachelor of fine arts from the University of Notre Dame and is a faculty member at Southwestern Michigan college. He works primarily with watercolor both as a fine art as well as a commercial artist

The second series of lessons will begin Feb. 3, 1977, and will be taught by David Eisler, a new faculty member at Andrews university. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and taught at Washington university, St. Louis, Mo., for six years.

All meetings and classes are held at Memorial hall, St. Joseph.

Meetings will be held once a month for classwork while a second meeting is planned on an informal basis with Mrs. Volney (Dorothy) Witkoske in charge of workshop sessions.

New officers recently elected with Mrs. Goodgame are Mrs. Witkoske, vice president; Mrs. (Heartha) Whitlow, recording secretary; Mrs. Michael (Capitola) Estkowski, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James (Roberta) Mrs. Harold treasurer; (Dorothy) Schwerdt and Mrs. Herbert (Marie) Witte, directors; Mrs. Allen (Margaret) Pennington, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Harry (Jean) Gast, Jonathan varieties, soon to be appearing, are preferred by many cooks. Michigan peaches will still be around until the end of the month, with Red Skins the most popular and in largest supply for canning and freezing along with Elbertas, recommended for canning only. Michigan's pear crop is only one-fourth of last year's, so there will be few bargains but at least they will be available along with large supplies of fresh western pears. Southwest Michigan's plum is poor but some from the central and northwest areas of the state, that usually go to processors, may reach fresh markets. Tomatoes will be available all month and/or until a hard frost, but watch quality carefully after mid-month. Check roadside stands, farmers and city markets and supermarkets for quantity supplies.

Food processors have already announced a number of price come. Those announced so far have been on canned and frozen applesauce and slices, apricots, blueberries, red cherries. frozen strawberries, peas, green beans and mixed vegetables. Since corn weather has not been the greatest, canned and frozen corn will probably increase too. Some of the increased prices are due to smaller supplies, while others are due to higher production

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1976

Not all is bleak, however, Mrs. Beckman says. Even though 200,000 tons of tomatoes were lost during the strike, the 1976 crop is still estimated at 6.5 million tons. Combine that with the large carry overs from last year and there may be little or no price increase on tomatoes and tomato products.

Peeled tomato carry over is 140 per cent greater than a year ago and juice carry over is up to 22 per cent over last year. Canned fruit cocktail may be another bargain.

They believe that far too many who have a mild. or even a severe, heart attack continue to live as anxiety-ridden cardiac invalids. Instead. they hope to return these patients to a life of fruitful activity, separated from the constant fear of another heart attack. Of course, not all cardiac patients are deliberately exposed to the same degree of stressful activity. Dr. Rosenfeld and other cardiologists "stresstest" their patients to determine the exact amount of exercise each one can properly sustain. Then an exercise program is outlined. The increased blood supply to the heart, through exercise, converts many "cardiac cripples" into constructive, happier human beings.

Schorr To Be Quizzed Today

WASHINGTON (AP) Television newsman Daniel Schorr is scheduled to be ques-Daniel tioned under oath by the House Ethics Committee seeking to learn who leaked him a copy of the House intelligence report.

Schorr, who appears today before the panel, has said he will refuse to name his source and that he would prefer to go to jail rather than compromise what he considers his constitutional rights as a reporter to protect his confidential sources.

The congressional confrontation with Schorr over the rights of the news media to gather and publish news has been building for more than five months after Schorr acknowledged that he gave a copy of the House intelligence report to the Village Voice, a New York weekly, which published the secret report in full. The Ethics Committee has spent around $150,000 trying to track down Schorr's source.

Ethics Committee Chairman John J. Flynt, D-Ga., and Rep. Charles Bennett, D-Fla , have said they think they know who leaked the report to Schorr, but they haven't been able to prove

The committee's last-ditch attempt to obtain that proof came Tuesday with nine-and-ahalf hours of closed-door ques-tioning of four former staffers of the now defunct intelligence committee.

An Ethics Committee source said one target was Robert Brauer, an aide to Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., and the committee had hoped that the other three ex-staffers would implicate him. However, this plan apparently did not work and Brauer repeated for the committee his earlier sworn denial that he gave the report to Schorr or knew who did.

Schorr obtained his copy of the report after the House intelligence committee had voted to publish it but before the full House reversed the panel and ordered it kept secret. Schorr subsequently gave his copy to the Village Voice.

Meanwhile, more than 5,000 journalists signed petitions circulated by The Newspaper Guild urging the Ethics Committee to drop its investigation of Schorr, saying this was en-dangering the constitutional dangering the cons rights of a free press. constitutional

In spite of a daylong rainfall that put a temporary damper on the resurgent wildfire in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, Gov. William Milliken's ban on open burning remains in effect—and will be enforced—as hunters head for Michigan's north country.

Department of Natural Resources Director Howard Tanner said Tuesday that conservation officers will "make a vigilant effort" to uphold the stringent open-fire ban in the abnormally dry north woods.

Mack said such a law is an "immediate necessity" because of policies that allowed a fire at the Seney Wildlife Refuge to spread out of control. He claimed that fire, which has burned more than 70,000 acres in the central Upper Peninsula, "could have been stopped by a shovelful of dirt when it started."

However, Mack did not mention federal regulations, which have been blamed for the fire's spread. Under federal wilderness management rules, there was no immediate effort to halt the Seney fire until it had spead beyond the wilderness bog area where it was lit in late July by lightning.

U.S. Congressman Philip Ruppe, a critic of the federal policy, said a House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee hearing was scheduled for this afternoon in Washington to discuss those policies.

Strikers Are Barred

From Jobless Pay

DETROIT (AP) - State laws prohibit striking workers like those who have walked out at Ford Motor Co. —from collecting unemployment benefits, according to a spokesman for the Michigan Employment Security Commission. But the law does not block a striking worker from filing an application for state benefits, the MFSC spokesman said Tuesday. "They can file, but it is not likely they will get any MESC benefits," he said. But each case would be considered separately, although the odds were not good that the striking worker would qualify, he noted. The spokesman said the agency did not plan to immediately beef up its staff to handle an influx of applications from idled Ford workers. He also doubted that

Ford white collar workers, who could be laid off due to the United Auto Workers strike, could qualify for jobless benefits even though they were not playing a direct role in the walkout. The reasoning, he said, was that the non-union workers are part of the Ford unit. Ford on Tuesday advised its salaried employes to report for work as usual today.

Union sources said the strike almost certainly would extend into October, because it would take at least a week after a settlement is reached just to complete ratification.

Negotiations have been deadlocked on several major issues - including a key union demand for reducing work time and the strike was no surprise. Other disputes involved wages, layoff pay, health care and pensions.

The UAW wants an additional one day off at full pay each month to bolster job security and create new openings in the work force. The union, which is working toward a four-day work week, says its proposal would reduce work time 5 per cent a year, and thus require Ford to

CETA Priority List Approved

BY DENNIS COGSWELL Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW - A list establishing priorities for federal (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) jobs was approved Tuesday by the Van Buren county board of

The action was necessary because the county may receive a cutback in its appropriation from the program and might be able to retain only 15-20 jobs beyond the end of this year, according to Roger Hoxie, county manpower coordinator.

Hoxie said it was originally hoped that at least 25-30 jobs would be continued under Title II beyond Dec. 31. About 80 jobs are now funded under the CETA

Last July, the county was forced to switch all of its CETA employes over to what is known as the Title II part of the CETA program after the Title VI section was not renewed by congress. Hoxie said that if Van Buren receives no further CETA appropriations, existing money for all jobs would run out by Dec. 15.

There is a possibility, he noted, that Congress will act after the November elections to renew the Title VI program, in which case no layoffs would be Six of the top 15 slots on the list are for law enforcement positions, and three others for ambulance attendants.

"The main priority we looked at (in drawing up the list) was which jobs would lead to later unsubsidized employment," Hoxie said.

Commissioners approved the list by a 7-1 vote. Commissioner Boyd Estes of Hartford cast the putting positions for the county social services and mental health departments among the top priorities was not right since both agencies could obtain money for any needed extra workers from the state.

Voting in favor were commissioners Walter Stickels, Shirley Jackson, Ronald DeCook, Edwin Twitchell, James Wellington, George Fritz, and Gerald Rendel. Commissioner Donald Hanson was absent.

The findings were based on an analysis of the deaths of one million men and women over a 12-year period and were report-ed here Tuesday at a meeting on the "Origins of Human Cancer" at the Cold Springs Harbor Laboratory.

For purposes of the study, "high" tar-nicotine cigarettes were defined as those containing 25.8 to 35.7 milligrams of tar and 2.0 to 2.7 milligrams of nicotine. "Low" tar-nicotine cigarettes included those with less than 17.6 milligrams of tar and less than 1.2 milligrams of nicotine. "Medium" tar-nico-tine smokes were defined as those falling between those two

Jones two months ago aided Stevensville police in the apprehension of a man inside the service station. Jones said he was spending nights at the station because of a break-in a few days before that when several hundred dollars in merchandise was stolen during a hurglary. Baroda-Lake Police Chief John Harner said the theft is under investigation.

The Limit Is 25 In Coloma

COLOMA - New lower speed limit signs have been posted along two streets here with enforcement of the new speed hmit to begin immediately, according to Kenneth Unruh, Coloma police chief. Unruh said 25 mile per hour signs have been posted along South Church street from Ryno road to St. Joseph avenue (Red Arrow highway) and along the entire length of St. Joseph avenue from both the east and west city limits. Previously, said Unruh, the speed limit in these areas was 35 miles per hour. The 16 mile per hour reduction in speed was prompted by residents complaining about autos in the residential areas exceeding the old speed limit. With the posting of the new signs, all city streets have a 25 mile ner hour limit in effect.

Love Creek Nature Center Opens Sunday

Site Is Wonderland Of Animals, Plants

BY NICK SMITH Staff Writer

The Love Creek Nature Center, located just south of Berrien General hospital in Berrien township, will open to the general public Sunday, Sept. 19, according to Charles R. Barnes, director-naturalist of the center.

Carved out of 125 acres of land along the winding Love Creek valley, the center is a place to "knock around in the woods" and view a wide variety of plants and animals, Barnes said.

On opening day he'll lead an 8 a.m. tour searching for migratory birds, a 10 a.m. trip along the trails to see fall wildflowers and an 8 p.m. search for Screech owls and other night Creatures.

County officials and the public are invited to the official opening ceremonies Sunday at 3 p.m., Barnes said.

The center will be open Saturdays through Wednesdays. Barnes will lead visitors or tour groups through the forests and meadows, or individuals can roam along the two miles of trails. Already, Barnes added, his schedule for leading tours is filling up for the fall.

Racoon, fox, red and fox squirrel, cottontail rabbits, opossom, muskrat, white tailed deer and many other species of mammals are found at the county-operated center, according to Barnes. Birds include pheasant, bob-white quail, ruffed grouse, green heron, great horned and screech owls, red-tailed hawks and most of the song birds common to Southwestern Michigan.

The two miles of trails also pass through several environments — dry and wet meadows, a marsh, a wet forest and a now-unusual Beech-Sugar Maple forest similar to the forest that once covered most of Southwestern Michigan.

In order for a field to pass to a Beech-Sugar Maple forest, Barnes said it must be relatively untouched by man for about 300 years. Warren Woods, in the southern part of the county, is such a forest, he added

Visitors should dress comfortably. Just to walk from the parking lot, located off Huckleberry road, to the shelter pavilion takes about five minutes over a winding and sometimes-steep trail. Admission is free.

The center is located on part

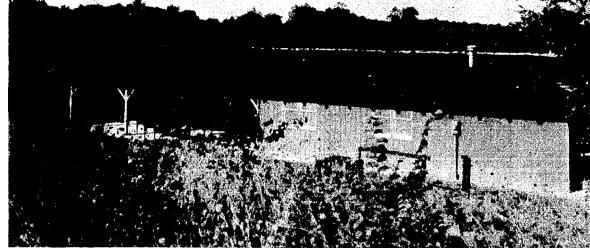

The center is located on part of a farm that the county has owned for about 125 years. Land around the center is still used to raise grain, and Barnes said that practice will continue because it offers food and cover for wildlife.

Barnes is an employe of the Berrien Parks and Recreation commission, which runs the center. Over the past 15 months he has cut trails through the forests and meadows, built footbridges and a few stairways, constructed a shelter and built a parking lot. It cost the county about $25,000 for the improvements, Barnes

Walking through the preserve recently, Barnes played with a hog-nose snake that was sighted just off the trail and later remarked that the trail would have to be moved to avoid a patch of a very rare plant he identified excitedly as "Indian's Pipe."

Pointing out a migratory bird, he said "Not many people are excited that the tree sparrows came in today, but I really am. It's almost like my little world out here, and you get intimate with, it." Barnes promised to share his enthusiasm with all visitors.

To reach the center from the Twin Cities area take Pipestone road south to Eau Claire, Hochberger road south to Deans Hill road, Deans Hill east to Huckleberry road and Huckleberry south about one-half mile to the entrance.

NATURE CENTER PAVILION: Pavilion at the Love Creek Nature Center will serve as a "halfway house" for people who want to tour the center, Director Chuck Barnes said. Before beginning a tour of the 125-acre center people can stop by and pick up literature about the out-of-doors and about sights along the trails. Lectures and talks will probably be conducted in the pavilion, according to

LOVE CREEK: Peaceful scenes such as this one at Love Creek Nature Center will greet visitors Sept. 19 when center opens. County spent about $25,000 to develop the 125-acre site in Berrien township. Pictured is footbridge over Love Creek, which winds through the preserve. (Staff photo)

INDIANS WALKED BY THESE VINES: Native American grape vines growing at the Love Creek Nature Center are so old that "some of them have seen Indians walk by," Chuck Barnes, director and naturalist at the center, said. Barnes said the old grape vines still bear fruit up in the tops of surrounding trees. Birds feed on the fruit, which is smaller but similar to the Concord grapes grown commercially in Southwestern Michigan (Staff photo).

Annual Bicycle Event Sept. 26 At Three Oaks

THREE OAKS—The Three Oaks Spokes Club will sponsor its third annual "Apple Cider Century" ride Sept. 26, according Bryan Volstorf, club president. Volstorf expects 1,000 cyclists from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois to participate in the ride which he said is sponsored by the League of American Wheelmen (LAW).

Participants may select either a 25, 50 or 100 mile route, Volstorf continued. He said registration will be held between 6 a.m. and noon in St. Mary's Catholic hall, 28 West Ash street. Participants wishing to ride the 100 mile route must be registered by 9 a.m. Participants may also register before the day of the race. Volstorf said registration forms may be obtained either from an area bicycle shop or by writing to the club at 303 East Michigan street, Three Cals.

A registration fee of $4 will be charged to single riders and $3.50 for families of three or more for all applications received on or before Sept. 25, Volstorf reported. A $5 fee will be charged to all participants who register on the day of the ride.

Volstorf said all participants arriving early will be served a continental breakfast of coffee or apple cider and donuts. Vehicles equipped with citizens' band radios will be stationed at 10 mile intervals along each route to assist the riders and serve cider, apples, water and candy bars, he added. A spaghetti supper will be served after the ride.

Over the past 15 months he has cut trails through the forests and meadows, built footbridges and a few stairways, constructed a shelter and built a parking lot. It cost the county about $25,000 for the improvements, Barnes remarked.

Walking through the preserve recently, Barnes played with a hog-nose snake that was sighted just off the trail and later remarked that the trail would have to be moved to avoid a patch of a very rare plant he identified excitedly as "Indian's Pipe."

NATURE CENTER PAVILION: Pavilion at the Love Creek Nature Center will serve as a "halfway house" for people who want to tour the center, Director Chuck Barnes said. Before beginning a tour of the 125-acre center people can stop by and pick up literature about

the out-of-doors and about sights along the trails. Lectures and talks will probably be conducted in the pavilion, according to Barnes. (Staff photo)

LOVE CREEK: Peaceful scenes such as this one at Love Creek Nature Center will greet visitors Sept. 19 when center opens. County spent about $25,000 to develop the 125-acre site in Berrien township. Pictured is footbridge over Love Creek, which winds through the preserve. (Staff photo)

INDIANS WALKED BY THESE VINES: Native American grape vines growing at the Love Creek Nature Center are so old that "some of them have seen Indians walk by," Chuck Barnes, director and naturalist at the center, said. Barnes said the old grape vines still bear fruit up in the tops of surrounding trees. Birds feed on the fruit, which is smaller but similar to the Concord grapes grown commercially in Southwestern Michigan. (Staff photo)

Annual Bicycle Event Sept. 26 At Three Oaks

THREE OAKS— The Three Oaks Spokes Club will sponsor its third annual "Apple Cider Century" ride Sept. 26, according Bryan Volstorf, club president. Volstorf expects 1,000 cyclists from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois to participate in the ride which he said is sponsored by the League of American Wheelmen (LAW).

Participants may select either a 25, 50 or 100 mile route, Volstorf continued. He said registration will be held between 6 a.m. and noon in St. Mary's Catholic hall, 28 West Ash street. Participants wishing to ride the 100 mile route must be registered by 9 a.m. Participants may also register before the day of the race. Volstorf said registration forms may be obtained either from an area bicycle shop or by writing to the club at 303 East Michigan street, Three Oaks.

A registration fee of $4 will be charged to single riders and $3.50 for families of three or more for all applications received on or before Sept. 25, Volstorf reported. A $5 fee will be charged to all participants who register on the day of the ride.

Volstorf said all participants arriving early will be served a continental breakfast of coffee or apple cider and donuts. Vehicles equipped with citizens' band radios will be stationed at 10 mile intervals along each route to assist the riders and serve cider, apples, water and candy bars, he added. A spaghetti supper will be served after the ride.

New LMC Catalog Is Available Now

Lake Michigan College's new 164-page catalog is now ready for off-campus distribution to high school counselors, librarians, and other interested persons.

Individual copies of the catalog, said to be one of the most attractive ever published by the college, can be obtained by writing to the LMC admissions Office, 2755 East Napier avenue, Benton Harbor, Mich. 49022.

Multiple copies will be delivered by LMC to regional high schools within the next two weeks. Public librarians who wish copies should contact the college admissions office.

The catalog contains descriptions of all courses and programs taught at the college as well as a history of LMC, its goals and objectives, admission policies, tuition and fee scales, academic regulations, and graduation requirements.

On the catalog cover is a color photograph of LMC's west fountain and arts and sciences wing taken by Cletus Brummel, associate professor of biology. Entitled "A Rainbow of Opportunities," the catalog was designed by Dr. Thomas P. McCourt, LMC registrar. Printed by Imperial Printing company, of St. Joseph, the catalog contains five pictures of college life, 63 pages printed on light blue paper, and the remainder of the pages in blue ink on white paper.

Ecologists Say EPA Stalling Gas-Lead Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — An environmental group claimed Tuesday the Environmental Protection Agency has secretly decided to postpone for two years regulations reducing the amount of poisonous lead in gasoline.

The Natural Resources Defense Council accused the agency of being "stampeded into its decision by the oil industry, without consulting anyone but oil interests."

It claimed EPA planned to justify the delay by citing oil industry studies that indicate the low-lead regulations could cause a gasoline shortage next summer. be open for visitors all Saturday afternoon with the formal dedication ceremony slated to start at 1:30 p.m.

The festivities will take place on the outdoor patio on the college's Napier avenue campus. Ample parking will be available for as many as 1,500 cars

The Twin Cities Symphony orchestra will begin the program with a concert of classical music, which will be followed by a processional of LMC faculty and honored guests. Noted public figures have been invited to attend and participate in the dedication cerdmony which will include the unveiling of an engraved dedication stone placed in the exterior wall of the library-student union building.

Included in the program will be group sining, blessing of the dedication stone and the college, and awarding of honorary degrees to selected individuals who have contributed significantly to public education.

Refreshments will be served on the patio, followed by smallgroup tours throughout LMC's $15 million campus. The entire LMC faculty, dressed in academic regalia, will be present at the ceremony and later in various parts of the buildings to greet and talk to visitors.

"The occasion of this celebration is not only the fact that this is the college's 30th year of service to the community but also that this year marks the completion of LMC's 10-year development plan and completion of the buildings incorporated in that plan," said Dr. James L. Lehman, LMC president. "We welcome all with an interest in public education to visit our facilities and enjoy the dedication ceremonies on the afternoon of

More than 100 special guests have been invited to attend the celebration, including local, state, and national government officials and educators.

"We are opening our doors on this occasion to residents of the entire LMC district and view this as an opportunity for all to see what their support and their tax dollars have produced by and way of a modern college campus," said William J. Niemi, vice-president for business affairs, who is in charge of the dedication ceremony and program.

Time Is Running Out For Pirates

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

In May, when everybody is a contender, a loss is just a number. But in September, when just a chosen few are con-tenders, a loss can be a disaster.

"Time's running out on us." said Pittsburgh's Jim Rooker after the second-place Pirates were knocked off by the New York Mets for the second day in The Mets won 4-3 with a pair of runs in the ninth inning, sending the Pirates to their fourth defeat in 19 games. The in a row was Aug. 20-21.

And this was not the best time for the Pirates to turn cold, especially since the Phillies' flame seems to be rekindled. The Phillies beat Montreal 3-2 for their third straight victory after losing 13 out of 15. The last time the Phillies won three straight was Aug. 22-24. Tony Taylor, in his 46th September, stroked an important single in the three-run fifth inning that carried Philadelphia oyer Montreal.

The Phillies, fading fast just three days ago, now hold a six-game edge over Pittsburgh in the race for the National League East title. The two Pennsylvania rivals open a two-game set in Philadelphia tonight.

"Our hands are full, but they've been full all year " said Rooker, who yielded Ed Krancpool's run-scoring single and Bud Harrelson's RBI grounder in the ninth.

Taylor was a 28-year-old regular 12 years ago when the Fullies blew a big lead and the NL pennant. In perhaps his last time around, he's doing what he can to get into the first World Series of his 18-year major league qureer.

Elsewhere in the NL, Los Angeles blanked Cincinnati 8-0; Sen Francisco nipped San Diego 7-6; the Chicago Cubs beat St. Louis 6-3, and Houston and Atlanta split a doubleheader, each team taking a 4-3 victory. Tommy John's chances to win the "Comeback of the Year Award" are about as good as Clincimati's shot at the NL West flag.

John has mystified medical science by pitching this year with a reconstructed throwing operation, a tendon from his right arm was implanted into

John, 9-10, extended his lifetime record over Cincinnati to 5-1, scattering 10 hits.

The Dodger victory snapped a seven-game hoing streak to the Reds and stalled Cincinnati's magic number for clinching the NL West title at eight. Bobby Murcer clubbed a pair of two-run borners, and one of them rallied San Francisco over San Diego in the ninth inning.

Murcer, whose first homer but the Giants ahead 5-0 in the fifth, regained the lead with his one out shot in the minth. Willie Montabez slammed a three-run homer in the third in-ning to pace Atlanta's secondvictory. Houston righthander Mark Lemongello on his first major league start a six-year Benton Harbor jinx Friday night. It's been that long since the Tigers have won a season football opener.

Joe Wallis contributed three hits to a 12-hit Chicago attack that carried the Cubs over St. Louis. Rick Reuschel span tine hits to raise his record to 13-10.

But Bergan is hopeful that Benton Harbor can change that when it hosts Kalamazoo Central at 7:30 p.m. at Filstrup Field.

"We're trying to build a winning tradition at Benton Harbor," Bergan says. "But realistically you can't change three years of bad habits in three weeks. We're not promising to win any games. We're selling

"The kids have accepted our discipline, our program and us as coaches. They're doing everything we ask them to do with vigor and enthusiasm. The big key is that they're taking pride in what they're doing. They're proud to be Benton Harbor football players."

Kalamazoo Central is coming off its best season since 1905, finishing 9-0 in the regular season last year before falling 35-6 to Traverse City in the Class A state playoff.

But the Maroon Giants return only two starters from that team, one on offense and one on defense. Defensive tackle Mike Oleck, who plans to play both ways this year, is back, as well as running back Dave Smith, slowed much of last year by in-

Though they return very few starters, Kalamazoo will not be hurting for experience, however. Central played an average of 42 kids per game last year. Most of them have never started, though, and are untested in crucial game situations.

Doug Gibbs, a senior, heads a trio vying for the starting marterback spot. Junior Randy Ball is also a possibility.

Fullback Al Taborn (6-2, 185) could be a key if he is healthy enough to play. Taborn has been bothered by a leg injury.

Central has already suffered a big loss, as linebacker Craig Rowekamp is out for the season with mononucleosis.

"The game is going to be decided defensively and by which one of the young teams makes the fewest mistakes,' Bergan says. "We made a lot of mistakes in our scrimmage last week, but the kids had a good attitude. The discipline is better than it has been, and the kids kept their poise.'

Bergan plans to go with sophomore Andrew Hurst at quarterback and use a running offense

"He's fast and he executed our offense very well in the scrimmage," explained. "We feel all of our backs have to be honored as runners, and he's the biggest threat of the three quarterback candidates."

With a running quarterback, Bergan plans to do very little ten-tenths per cent of the time," he jokes. "In fact, we've filled all of our footballs up with sand. We have to take the sand out of one each week to kick."

Joining Hurst in the backfield will be junior speedster Maverick Burton (5-10, 165) at tailback and seniors Willie Campbell (5-10, 160) and Charles Carter (5-11, 165) at fullback and swingback, respectively. Senior Harold House (5-10, 165), out much of the year so far with a shoulder separation, may see limited action.

The line will consist of junior center Richard Clifton (6-3, 200), senior Ray Turner (6-1, 215) and sophomore John Bailey (5-10, 165) at guards, juniors Dan Atkinson (6-1, 215) and Gene Eddy (6-4, 215) at tackles and seniors Carl Allison (6-0, 190) and David Miles (6-3, 170)

On defense, junior Carl Cotton (5-11, 175) and senior Keith Taylor (6-5, 215) will go at ends. Seniors Reggie Smith (6-2, 190) and Alex McCoy (5-10, 185) will man the tackle spots, with either senior James Williams

(5-10, 160) or senior Mark Elsey (5-8, 165) at the noseguard position.

The linebackers will be juniors Elliott Washington (5-9. 170) and Desmond Parker (6-1, 190), and senior Napoleon Lark (6-0, 170) and junior Bill Schneck (6-2, 190) are expected to go at the safeties.

At the cornerback spots, junior Eugene Hines (6-2, 185), junior Jack McIntosh (5-9, 155), senior Larry Peppel (5-8, 165) and Ronnie Jones (5-6, 140) are battling for the two starting

A's Feel Pressure

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

With time running out and a stalemate developing in the American League West, the pressure rests squarely with the Oakland A's, and Manager Chuck Tanner is beginning to feel it.

"We just have to win," Tanner said after splitting a pair Tuesday with Minnesota winning the first game 4-2 and losing the nightcap 4-3. "I don't know what Kansas City is doing but we have to win."

Tanner should know what the AL West-leading Royals are doing - the same thing as his second-place A's. Starting last week, the two teams have been pacing each other, almost stepfor-step.

won four of their past eight games, including a 2-1 victory Tuesday over Chicago. Oakland has won five of eight. The A's now trails Kansas them (the Royals), and that will marked the first start by have a lot to say about who wins," said Tanner. Elsewhere in the AL, the New Yankees thumped Cleveland 8-2. Baltimore beat Detroit 9-7, California clipped Texas 6-4 and Milwaukee edged Boston 3-2 in 10 innings.

Vida Blue, 15-12, scattered eight hits, including Dan Ford's home run, and Gene Tenace Detroit right fielder Rusty smacked a two-run homer in the eighth inning for Oakland's opening-game victory. It was the first time the A's had beaten Minnesota in Bloomington this Ford's ninth-inning single scored Jerry Terrell, giving the Twins a victory in the nightcap. Dave Goltz went the distance for the Twins, scattering 11 hits and evening his record at 13-13.

Time Is Running Out For Pirates

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

In May, when everybody is a contender, a loss is just a number. But in September, when just a chosen few are contenders, a loss can be a disaster.

"Time's running out on us," said Pittsburgh's Jim Rooker after the second-place Pirates were knocked off by the New York Mets for the second day in

The Mets won 4-3 with a pair of runs in the ninth inning, sending the Pirates to their fourth defeat in 19 games. The last time the Pirates lost twice in a row was Aug. 20-21.

And this was not the best time for the Pirates to turn cold, especially since the Phillies' flame seems to be rekindled. The Phillies beat Montreal 3-2 for their third straight victory after losing 13 out of 15. The last time the Phillies won three can to get into the first World straight was Aug. 22-24. The Dodger victory snapped a seven-game losing streak to the Reds and stalled Cincinnati's magic number for clinching the NI. West title at eight. Bobby Murcer clubbed a pair of two-run homers, and one of them rallied San Francisco over San Diego in the ninth inning. Murcer, whose first homer put the Giants ahead 5-0 in the fifth, regained the lead with his one-out shot in the ninth.

Willie Montanez slammed a three-run homer in the third inning to pace Atlanta's secondvictory. Houston game righthander Mark Lemongello won his first major league start in the opener.

Joe Wallis contributed three hits to a 12-hit Chicago attack that carried the Cubs over St. Louis. Rick Reuschel spaced nine hits to raise his record to

Even though Indiana beat Big Ten rival Michigan for the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship this year, the schools apparently don't mind sharing coaching techniques.

Canada's Shutt Villian To Czechs

MONTREAL (AP) - Steve Shutt is a soft-spoken man who plays intense, but unprentious hockey. He is known more for his skatting and scoring than for the bone-crunching body checks that others deal out freely.

But Shutt is a villain to the followers of the Czech team today. He cross-checked Czech forward Jiri Novak from behind in Monday night's opening game of the Canada Cup championship, knocking Novak out of the series with a concussion. Czech co-coach Dr. Jan Starsi was more infuriated by the uver than by the 6-0 score rolled up by Canada.

He called the play a "blind side" attack, adding that "that's the only way a player like Shutt can check a man like Novak. He (Novak) did not have the puck, but was struck by the stick of the Canadian player.'

Thus tonight's second game of the series becomes something of a gridge match for the weary Czechs, many of whom have admitted the fatigue which was evident in Monday's game. Team Canada outplayed the visitors in every department and is expected

"But don't knock them (the Czechs) off too easily," cautioned Team Canada Coach Scotty Bowman. "You know they're going to be coming back in the next game."

They may try to retailate against Shutt, who was upset that his check had been so damaging. "I didn't mean to hit him that high," Shutt said after Tuesday's practice. "I'm not the type of player to go out and hurt somebody.

"But we know they (the Czechs) don't like to get hit. The name of the game of bockey is to exploit the other team's weakness — anything to bug them a little. That's the game. You have to go out and take the man. If you don't, they'll kill you with their playmaking.

The Czechs weren't killing anyone with their plays Monday night. A four-goal, first-period burst put the game away before the Czechs could get started.

Czechs coulo get starred. Even if they lose, the Czechs will go home $100,000 richer, having taking $75,000 for finishing second in the round-roble phase of the competition and adding $25,000 for making the final. A victory the competition and accing was, who for making the linal. A victory would raise the Canadians' band to $150,000.

At least one tired Czech, his tongue apparently in cheek, didn't see much prospect of the series reaching a decisive third game. "If we're leading by one or tied in the last seconds," said veteran Czech forward Jiri Hollk, "we may shoot the puck into our own net just so we won't have to play again Friday."

Hamill Begins New Ice Capades Career

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dorothy Hamilt jumps into the Ice Capades spotlight tonight, beginning a nine-month tour that will take her to 20 U.S. cities.

"I have to skate well every night now," says the 20-year-old Olympic gold medal winner and three-time U.S. figure skating champion.

"I have to be as close to my peak as I can every single night and three times on Saturday. Before the Olympics, it was all just for one night," she said at a news conference he acknowledged that beyond the glitter and status of professional skating, she's still feels the same butterflies she did the night she won a gold medal at the 1976 Winter tria.

"I'm a lot more nervous, now," she said. "I got sick on the train yesterday."

"It's really difficult for her now," said Juanita Visconti. the companion and instructor to whom Miss Hamili glanced for reassurance during her meeting with the press.

"A different type of ice in every city, different size rinks and surfaces. She has the spottight now, the orchestra, had to deal with before."

Though tonight's performance is billed as her debut she has performed, unadvertised, before Ice Capade crowds in Binghamton, N.Y.

Reno Recognizes Dankworth Now

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The mail was pouring in and the phone was ringing incessantly, and Jeff Dankworth, who describes himself as "not super outgoing," wasn't sure yet whether he liked all the atten-

"But," said the UCLA quar-terback, "it's nice for the people back in my home town to finally w that I'm still alive."

ankworth had left his home

Dankworth ran for 155 yards on 19 carries, completed three of four pusses, and scored the Bruine' first two touchdowns, a performance that earned him Associated Press College Back of the Week honors

"I'm overwhelmed," said the shy, soft-spoken senior who dwelled in the shadow of Bruin quarterback John Sciarra for the past two years.

"Being from a small town like Reno, I think it really means more to me. I'm sure a lot of people there were wondering what had happened to me, and I stars they know now."

But Dankwarth said the instant acclaim that goes along with being a "feetball star" has its bad points, too.

"I didn't get much rest over the weekend," he said. "The phone western, he said. The phone was ringing, there are letters I have to answer. I'm not the type of guy who'd choose the spotlight, but I guess it's something I'll just have to ad-

Canada's Shutt Villian To Czechs

MONTREAL (AP) - Steve Shutt is a soft-spoken man who plays intense, but unprentious hockey. He is known more for his skating and scoring than for the bone-crunching body checks that others deal out freely.

But Shutt is a villain to the followers of the Czechoslovakian team today. He cross-checked Czech forward Jiri Novak from behind in Monday night's opening game of the Canada Cup championship, knocking Novak out of the series with a concussion. Czech co-coach Dr. Jan Starsi was more infuriated by the maneuver than by the 6-0 score rolled up by Canada.

He called the play a "blind side" attack, adding that "that's the only way a player like Shutt can check a man like Novak. He (Novak) did not have the puck, but was struck by the stick of the Canadian player.

Thus tonight's second game of the series becomes something of a grudge match for the weary Czechs, many of whom have admitted the fatigue which was evident in Monday's game. Team Canada outplayed the visitors in every department and is expected to repeat tonight.

'But don't knock them (the Czechs) off too easily," cautioned Team Canada Coach Scotty Bowman. "You know they're going to

They may try to retailate against Shutt, who was upset that his check had been so damaging. "I didn't mean to hit him that high." Shutt said after Tuesday's practice. "I'm not the type of player to go out and hurt somebody.

"But we know they (the Czechs) don't like to get hit. The name of the game of hockey is to exploit the other team's weakness anything to bug them a little. That's the game. You have to go out and take the man. If you don't, they'll kill you with their playmaking."

The Czechs weren't killing anyone with their plays Monday night. A four-goal, first-period burst put the game away before the Czechs could get started.

Even if they lose, the Czechs will go home $100,000 richer, having taking $75,000 for finishing second in the round-robin phase of the competition and adding $25,000 for making the final. A victory would raise the Canadians' haul to $150,000.

At least one tired Czech, his tongue apparently in cheek, didn't see much prospect of the series reaching a decisive third game. "If we're leading by one or tied in the last seconds," said veteran Czech forward Jiri Holik, "we may shoot the puck into our own net just so we won't have to play again Friday.

Hamill Begins New Ice Capades Career

Dorothy Hamill jumps into the Ice Capades spotlight tonight, beginning a nine-month tour that will take her to 20 U.S.

"I have to skate well every night now," says the 20-yearold Olympic gold medal winner and three-time U.S. figure skating champion.

"I have to be as close to my peak as I can every single night and three times on Saturday. Before the Olympics, it was all just for one night," she said at a news conference Tuesday

Nonetheless, she noted that the new job will bring a measure of regularity to her

"It's such a relief to have joined the Ice Capades," said the 5-foot-3, 110-pound native of Riverside, Conn.

"After years in different houses with different tutors. coaches. teachers and choreographers ... now it's just one suitcase, to the rink and back to the hotel room. Believe me, that's settling down." She acknowledged that beyond the glitter and status of professional skating, she's still feels the same butterflies she did the night she won a gold medal at the 1976 Winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Aus-

"I'm a lot more nervous, now," she said. "I got sick on the train yesterday.

"It's really difficult for her now," said Juanita Visconti, the companion and instructor to whom Miss Hamill glanced for reassurance during her meeting with the press.

"A different type of ice in every city, different size rinks and surfaces. She has the spotlight now, the orchestra, the costumes, things she never had to deal with before."

Though tonight's performance is billed as her debut, she has performed, unadvertised, before Ice Capade crowds in Binghamton, N.Y.

Other new Ice Capades performers include two-time U.S. senior pairs champions Melissa Militano and Johnny Johns, plus 1976 U.S. senior men's champion Terry Kubicka.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The mail was pouring in and the phone was ringing incessantly. and Jeff Dankworth, who describes himself as "not super outgoing," wasn't sure yet whether he liked all the atten-

"But," said the UCLA quarterback, "it's nice for the people back in my home town to finally know that I'm still alive."

Dankworth had left his home in Reno, Nev., five years ago to play football at UCLA. He had hardly been heard from since, as he redshirted one year and spent the others on the Bruin bench.

But last Thursday night, Dankworth was heard from in a big way, as he deftly led the Bruins to a nationally televised 28-10 upset of Arizona State.

Dankworth ran for 155 yards on 19 carries, completed three of four passes, and scored the Bruins' first two touchdowns, a performance that earned him Associated Press College Back of the Week honors.

"I'm overwhelmed," said the shy, soft-spoken senior who dwelled in the shadow of Bruin quarterback John Sciarra for the past two years.

Being from a small town like Reno, I think it really means more to me. I'm sure a lot of people there were wondering what had happened to me, and I guess they know now. But Dankworth said the instant acclaim that goes along with being a "football star" has its bad points, too.

"I didn't get much rest over the weekend," he said. "The phone was ringing, there are letters I have to answer. I'm not the type of guy who'd choose the spotlight, but I guess it's something I'll just have to adjust to.'

The 6-foot, 209-pound senior said his play against Arizona State was probably easier than it looked.

"Arizona State felt that they had to watch our two halfbacks, thought they were a little more of a threat than me since they run 9.4 and 9.6 for the 100 and I run 10-flat. That, combined with our superlative offensive line play, made it a field day for

Hudson is off the hot seat in Michigan Class C high school

Upper Peninsula 'D' Teams Good

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Upper Peninsula isn't just the land of the "living pine trees." It's pretty fair football country, too.

A look at last year's first

Michigan high school playoffs points up the prowess of U.P. prep football.

Ishpeming, for instance, surprised many downstaters, particularly Hudson, by sweeping to the Class C state nampionship. And Crystal Falls Forest

Park was even more convincing in Class D, rolling over Posen, 67-0, in the semifinals and taking Flint Holy Rosary, 50-0, in the championship.

Coach Richard Metlach has most of the line back from a year ago, including 220-pound iunior tackle Charles Corbett and two-way end Charlie Davis. The backfield has been rebuilt. Gone are All-Staters Bill Santilli, who rushed for 1,863 yards and scored 33 touchdowns, and end Bryan LaChapelle.

Forest Park, which whacked Niagara of Wisconsin, 33-0, in its opener, will have its share of challengers for U.P. supremacy. Among them are Bessemer, perennial toughte DeTour (8-1 last year), Rapid River and Wakefield.

Downstate, North Adams, No. 1-ranked by the Associated Press in last year's poll, looms strong. Coach Dan Marco's (46-5 record in six seasons) Rams rushed through the regular season unbeaten a year ago before losing to Flint Holy in the playoff semifinals.

Fowler, also unbeaten last fall, lost heavily by graduation and may have trouble keeping its No. 3 spot in the poll. Pot-terville could be the "D" power Bob Saylor, a 6-foot-4, 210-pound end who will be starting for the fourth year. Ann Arbor St. Thomas

Ann Arbor St. Thomas tackles the upcoming campaign with a veteran cast from last year's 7-2 team. Holy Rosary was hit hard by graduation, but has been bolstered by transfers and is again eyeing a playoff berth. Wyandotte Mt. Carmel (7-1) could be even tougher Coach Joe Benso's charges are heavy favorites to win the De-troit Catholic League West title.

Royal Oak St. Mary, thanks to halfback Brian MacDonald, should be dangerous. Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, guide by Coach Mike Boyd, might fill some holes quicker than ex-pected and challenge in the East. Saginaw Michigan East. Saginaw Michigan Lutheran is another bonafide power.

Marcellus, from the Kalamazoo area, has high hopes of capturing a state title because of the return of 235-pound tight end Jerry Cornwell and backs Lonnie Lewis and Steve Bradley, both of whom averaged nine yards a carry Climax-Scotts may have the state's outstanding small-school pass-catch team in quarterback John Halasz, who threw 15 touch down passes, and junior end Don Ballock, who caught nine of them.

Up north, Harbor Springs has big quarterback Dave Rhine to do its playoff bidding. He's a 6-4 skyscraper who has already won All-State acclaim in basketball and baseball

Other teams to watch in the northland are Johannesburg-Lewiston (8-1), which has Posen, attempting to recover from the Crystal Falls debacle; Owendale-Gagetown, where 19 lettermen return; and Kingston.

Michigan high school playoffs points up the prowess of U.P. prep football. Ishpeming, for instance, surprised many downstaters, particularly Hudson, by sweeping to the Class C state championship. And Crystal Falls Forest

Park was even more convincing in Class D, rolling over Posen, 67-0, in the semifinals and taking Flint Holy Rosary, 50-0, in the championship.

Coach Richard Metlach has most of the line back from a year ago, including 220-pound junior tackle Charles Corbett and two-way end Charlie Davis. The backfield has been rebuilt. Gone are All-Staters Bill Santilli, who rushed for 1,863 yards and scored 33 touchdowns, and end Bryan LaChapelle.

Forest Park, which whacked Niagara of Wisconsin, 33-0, in its opener, will have its share challengers for U.P. supremacy. Among them are Bessemer, perennial toughie DeTour (8-1 last year), Rapid River and Wakefield.

Downstate, North Adams, No. 1-ranked by the Associated Press in last year's poll, looms strong. Coach Dan Marco's (46-5 record in six seasons) Rams rushed through the regular season unbeaten a year ago before losing to Flint Holy Rosary in the playoff semifinals.

Fowler, also unbeaten last fall, lost heavily by graduation and may have trouble keeping its No. 3 spot in the poll. Potterville could be the "D" power

Coach Joe Benso's charges are heavy favorites to win the Detroit Catholic League West

Royal Oak St. Mary, thanks to halfback Brian MacDonald, should be dangerous. Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, guided by Coach Mike Boyd, might fill some holes quicker than expected and challenge in the East. Saginaw Michigan Lutheran is another bonafide

Marcellus, from the Kalamazoo area, has high hopes of capturing a state title because of the return of 235pound tight end Jerry Cornwell and backs Lonnie Lewis and Steve Bradley, both of whom averaged nine yards a carry last year.

Climax-Scotts may have the state's outstanding smallschool pass-catch team in quarterback John senior Halasz, who threw 15 touchdown passes, and junior end Don Ballock, who caught nine of them.

Up north, Harbor Springs has big quarterback Dave Rhine to do its playoff bidding. He's a 64 skyscraper who has already won All-State acclaim in basketball and baseball.

Other teams to watch in the northland are Johannesburg-Lewiston (8-1), which has

BH Men's Murd Charges Dismiss

Charges of open murder were dismissed against two Benton Harbor youths accused in the death of Theoris Bowman, 18, who was struck on the head with a piece of concrete or a brick Aug. 14 and died two days later.

After a three-hour preliminary examination, Quentin Fulcher, assistant Berrien county presecutor, asked that the charges against Otis Young, 17, 430 Payone street and Terry Bradley. 19. 221 South McCord street, be dismissed because of lack of evidence. District Judge Ronald J. Taylor concurred and the two were Fulcher said he requested that the charges be dismissed without prejudice, which he said meant that the charges could be reinstated if more evidence is found.

During the hearing, witness

"The witnesses saw the fight and the chase, but nobody could put them hitting Bowman over the head," Fulcher said, Bowman was found unconscious in a grassy area near the Benton Harbor fire station shortly after the chase.

Young and Bradley were arrested in Flint about two weeks after Bowman's death. They demanded examination on the charges Sept. 2 and were held without bond.

Fulcher said the crime lab is still testing a brick found near the scene that may be the murder weapon. The results of the tests have not been completed to date.

Initially, police indicated they believed the victim had been struck with a piece of concrete. Bowman's death was the sixth homicide in

After a three-hour preliminary examination, Quentin Fulcher, assistant Berrien county prosecutor, asked that the charges against Otis Young, 17, 430 Pavone street and Terry Bradley, 19. 221 South McCord street, be dismissed because of lack of evidence. District Judge Ronald J. Taylor concurred and the two were freed.

Fulcher said he requested that the charges be dismissed without prejudice, which he said meant that the charges could be reinstated if more evidence is found.

During the hearing, witnesses placed Young and Bradley at a gathering at 253 Jefferson court where a scuffle ensued between Bowman and the two youths. Fulcher said. The witnesses said a companion from Jefferson court to Pipestone street where they lost sight of them, he added.

"The witnesses saw the fight and the chase, but nobody could put them hitting Bowman over the head," Fulcher said. Bowman was found unconscious in a grassy area near the Benton Harbor fire station shortly after the chase.

Young and Bradley were arrested in Flint about two weeks after Bowman's death. They demanded examination on the charges Sept. 2 and were held without bond

Fulcher said the crime lab is still testing a brick found near the scene that may be the murder weapon. The results of the tests have not been completed to date

Initially, police indicated they believed the victim had been struck with a piece of concrete. Bowman's death was the sixth homicide in Benton Harbor this year.

Jail Inmate Asks Hearing After Fire

A Berrien county jail prisoner accused of setting fire to a first floor cellblock at the jail and with striking a guard with a board was arraigned yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court, St. Joseph.

George Earl McCardell, 47. route 1, Covert, demanded preliminary examination on charges of arson and assault with a deadly weapon. Bond was set at $5,000.

The charges were filed after Berrien sheriff's Deputy Herb Rusch reported he had been struck by a board and a fire set off in the cellblock Sunday Deputies said that because of the fire other prisoners in the cellblock had to be evacuated. Fire damage was confined to a bookcase, however.

Court records showed McCardell was awaiting trial on earlier charges of assault with a deadly weapon and malicious destruction of property when the fire and assault occurred.

Others demanding examinations yesterday were:

John Edward McHan, 19, route 1, Box 278 Hipps Hollow road, Sodus township, on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100, a motorcycle, Sept. 13 in Sodus township.

Bernard McKinny, 20, of 397 Pavone street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of breaking and entering a motor vehicle Sept. 14 in Benton Harbor. Bond was set Eric B. Cohn, 17, of 592 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of possession of heroin Sept. 9 in Benton Harbor. Bond was reduced from $40,000 to $10,000.

Doris Hill, 22, of 160 Catalpa street, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent and demanded a jury trial on a charge of filing a false report of a fire at a Benton Harbor apartment Sept. 13. She was freed on a $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

Sentenced yesterday were: May Bee Towns, 27, of 141 Benton street, Benton Harbor, $105 or 20 days in jail and six months probation for receiving and concealing stolen property under $100, a money order, June 25 in Benton Harbor.

William B. Bledsoe, 17, 240 Bridgman avenue, Benton township, 45 days in jail for malicious destruction of property, the door of a Benton township police car, July 28.

Fausto A. Carrera, 21. Battle Creek. $102 for impaired driving July 17 in Chikaming township.

John H. Enstrom, 64, Kalamazoo, $152 or 30 days in jail for driving under the influence of liquor Sept. 13, and $25 or seven days in jail for driving with an expired operator's license.

Valthes Adell, 22, Harvey, Ill., 45 days in jail for entering without permission Feb. 2 in Benton Harbor.

Vivian Cole, 40, Route 3, Box 2, Paw Paw, three day suspended jail sentence, $114 or 45 days in jail for driving with a suspended license and $59 or 30 days in jail for failing to yield right of way

Sentenced yesterday to $50 fine and costs or 10 days in jail for use of marijuana were Gary K. Flora, 25, Pullman; Michael A. Sinclair, 17, Broadview, Ill.; Charles Martens, 18, Hillside; Robert L. Allen, 24, Chicago; Timothy J. Waterman, 19, Union; John A. Grootendorst, 19, Lakeside; Guy G. Tardi, 20, Lakeside; Vincent A. Marante, 19, Harbert; and Ronald A. Ott, 21, 6346 Lincoln avenue, Stevensville Sentenced yesterday for larceny under $100 were Nancy J. Akright, 20, 2963 Naomi road, Sodus, $121; Lurine Jones, 28. 1875 Union street, Benton Harbor, $121; Dave A. Becker, 19, 3883 Lincoln avenue, St. Joseph, $121 or 90 days in jail; and Luber Williams Jr., 33, 899 Waukonda avenue, Benton township, 30 days in jail.

A charge of issuing an insufficent funds check over $50 was dismissed against James A. Mashak, 35, of 5202 Hagar Shore road, Coloma

Misuse Of CB Channels Annoying...And Dangerous

By CHRIS FRENCH esociated Press Writer

Good neighbors outnumber d apples on the CB channels. lice say misuse of citizen band airwaves can be annoying and sometimes deadly.

An Associated Press national survey of state and local police indicates that for the most part the estimated 6 million CBers in this country have been helpful. And the police say this even though CBers are fond of reporting highway patrol cars trying to catch speeders. Police say that practice results in traffic slowing down.

But there have been grim in-Florida Highway Patrol Sgt. Paul Gracey said citizens band operators are becoming an increasing influence on law enforcement operations - both good and bad.

"Like every other part of life, some people abuse CB radio," he said. Mostly, "They report traffic congestion, disabled vehicles, accidents and extent of injuries. It can save three minutes getting to the scene. It necessarily save anyone's life, but it does get help sooner, and you don't know

Police generally agree that many CB operators do provide useful information to law enforcement agencies.

Michigan State Police reported that in June there were calls from CB operators resulted in 29 drunk driving arrests, 72 speeding citations and 37 for crimes including 11 felonies.

The California Highway Patrol said that of 36 reports on drunk drivers from CB operators, there were 35 arrests. Coatsville, Pa., police said that the CB organization 'Townwatch' resulted in seven arrests for mugging. burglary and assault in July.

In Boston, police credited CB operators with assisting in keeping tension down during the turmoil resulting from busing for desegregation.

Boston police Capt. John Dow said that in one case a bus driver declined to drive through an area because earlier one driver had been pulled from his vehicle and others had been robbed. He said CB operators working with the Community Action Team, a civilian group, agreed to escort the bus and others until the trouble died Judge Rashid ruled Tuesday that the school board acted improperly by refusing to subpena witness for the teachers in its original eight-month round of hearings. He also ruled improper the board's refusal to give teachers transcripts of the hearings, and its failure to prove that the teachers were notified they would be dismissed if they did not return to work in December, 1974.

However, Rashid dismissed other charges by the teachers, including one that the board was too biased to hold impartial

Edward Homeier, attorney for the Crestwood board, said the ruling would have no immediate effect on the teaching staff in the district. Of the 184 fired. fewer than 20 have been rehired.

Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON - Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending Aug. 10 were:

SENATE Congressional Pay Raises -By a vote of 25-46 the Senate refused to include members of Congress in a 5 per cent cost of salary increase scheduled to take effect for certain high level federal employes Oct. 1.

Backers of the congressional raise argued that it would demean congress to deny members a raise which would go into effect for other top level federal officials including judges and high level executive branch bureaucrats. But opponents of the raise charged it would be inappropriate in a time of economic difficulty for Congress to vote itself a pay raise. They also maintained that cost of living pay increases for members should not be tied to pay hikes for other federal employes.

Air Pollution Regulations -The House rejected 156-199 a proposal to postpone tighter federal air quality controls on air over national parks and other regions where the air is now relatively clean.

Supporters of delaying the controls said the tighter regulations would severely inhibit growth in the country and exacerbate the energy shortage by preventing construction of badly-needed new utilities. Opponents said the regulations would not prevent growth of new plants equipped with effective air pollution control systems, and they argued that it was important to protect the air in pristine regions from getting as dirty as the air in many cities.

Voting to postpone tighter air controls: Hutchinson (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader)

Voting not to postpone tighter air quality controls: Blanchard (D), Vander Jagt (R), O'Neill (Majority Leader).

Not Voting: Brown (R), Conyers (D).

Job Service Offering Speakers

DETROIT - Local civic groups, employers' associations service organizations seeking speakers for fall meetings may find one at the local Job Service office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), according to MESC Director S. Martin

Announcing the formation of a statewide speaker's bureau, Taylor said that local Job Service representatives will be available to introduce a 10-

tion on MESC's Job Service program and answer questions posed by local community groups

The speaker's bureau is part of MESC's new Job Service campaign to recruit more job Michigan from employers for thousands of unemployed workers now on file with the agency.

"For the past year or so, the spotlight has been on MESC's unemployment fortunately, people may have forgotten that we're also the state's largest, employment agency.

Taylor emphasized that local organizations will be offered a speaker from their own community, knowledgeable about local employment conditions and prepared to discuss a wide variety of services MESC offers to employers.

"We have thousands of wellqualified workers who want to and get back to work," Taylor said. "And we have thousands of employers who want to reduce the tax burden that unemployment brings. Job Service can match employers' needs to applicants' skills. and that's the message we want Local groups may request a

Job Service speaker by contacting their local MESC Job Service office or by writing to MESC's Public Information

Hundreds More Troopers

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State Police Director Col. George Halverson says he may need several hundred more troopers in the next five years. Halverson said he bases that prediction, in part, on a five-year increase in demands of the state police by local police units. Halverson said the state police's low-visibility support services like its crime laboratory are getting more use every year. Halverson said that to continue in all the roles now expected of the State Police, he is going to need more men, perhaps several hundred more. He said he now has members of his staff drafting proposals on how the state police time might be allocated and paid for. He said details are not yet complete, but a system might be worked out whereby local units would get state police service on an "allocated" basis. He said services over and above the allocations might be contracted for

Spectacular views Michigan's forests in vivid fall colors await travelers who hop on a boat or a train, paddle a cance or pedal a bike, jump into the family jalopy or just hike along a woodland path, accord-ing to Automobile Club of

Of the many ways to see the vivid hues of Michigan's woods in autumn, one of the most interesting is from the deck of a boat cruising Lake Superior. Starting Sept. 21 and continuing into October, the Pictured Rocks Cruises at Munising runs daily three-hour, narrated fall color trips along the rocky shores of Upper Michigan. The boats travel 17½ miles along the world famous Pictured Rocks — a colorful expanse of forest-topped rocks that can be seen only from the water. The picturesque rock formations and the brilliant colors of surrounding autumn leaves provide breathtaking buckdrop of blue water and sky. Cruises are subject to the weather.

Combine a boat ride with a train trip on two U.P. fall color tours centered around Tahquamenon Falls — second-largest waterfall east of the Mississippi river. Starting at Soo Junction off M-28, the Toonerville Trolley—an authentic narrow-gauge railroad—takes passengers six wiles through wildsterges to miles through wilderness to Hunter's Mill, where they debark and board the Hiawatha Riverboat for a 21-mile trip down the Tahquamenon river to just above the rapids. From there, it's a half-mile hike to view the upper falls.

The whole trip takes 6½ hours and is offered once daily at 10:30 a.m. until Oct. 6.

The Riverboat and Timber Train Ride, based at Slater's Landing 10 miles north of Hulbert off M-28, reverses the order of the trip to the falls and is a shorter journey — 4½ hours. Passengers board the Diantha Hulbert for a 17-mile trip on the river. Next is a two-mile ride aboard the Paul Bunyan Timber Train, followed by a short walk to the upper falls. This trip is offered daily at 10:30 a.m. until Color cruises are offered at other locations. In northwest Michigan, travelers have two choices — the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce 1½ hour cruises on Lake Charlevoix, or the Ironton Ferry's under-five-minutes mini-tour for just a half-dollars. The chamber cruises are run at 1 p.m. Oct. 2 and 9, and Oct. 10. Tickets must be bought in advance. The ferry takes cars across Lake Charlevoix from Ironton to Boyne City in a shortcut that lops about a half-hour off driving time. It's pulled across the lake on cables.

While at Boyne City, hop aboard the Boyne Valley Railroad for a scenic color ex-cursion that takes just under two hours each way. There are four 14-mile round trips every Saturday and Sunday through October, and the tracks run through picturesque Boyne Mt.

paddle wheel boat, there are four in Michigan offering fall celor cruises — the Au Sable River Queen Boats near Oscoda, the Island Queen in Kensington Metro Park near Detroit, and Grand Rapids' Grand River Queen Paddle Wheel Riverboat.

Canoers on Michigan's rivers and streams get close-up views of brilliant autumn leaves in untouched wilderness settings There are dozens of canoe trails in the state offering views of the fall color spectacular that often can't be seen from a highway.

If paddling a canoe doesn't appeal to you, try pedaling a bike. Among the many routes is the first bicycle path ever constructed by the State Department of Highways and Transportation. Opened two years ago, the 1½-mile path runs along M-99 from the north city limits of Hillsdale to the south city limits

Another close-up way to see the woods in flaming fall color is in the family car — or if you're an antique car buff — on the annual Fall Color Tour of the Horseless Carriage Club of America — Grand Rapids chapter. The two-day tours starts at Sparta at 8 a.m. Sept. 25. And after an overnight stop at Glen Arbor, the tour returns to Grand Rapids at 6 p.m. Sept.

About 75 cars -- all at least 25 years old - will participate.

If hiking is your favorite pastime, Michigan's state parks and forests have well-marked trails through woods ablaze obtained from area tourist bureaus or chambers of com-merce, and Auto Club members will find up-to-date reports available at local offices across Michigan. Tourism officials in the U.P. Tourism officials an me U.F. estimate color will be at its peak there starting Sept. 17 and ending Oct. 3. The color should spread to northern Lower Michigan Sept. 24 through Oct. 10; central Lower Michigan, Oct. 1-16, and southern Lower Michigan Oct. 8-24.

Hundreds More Troopers

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) - State Police Director Col. George Halverson says he may need several hundred more troopers in the next five years. Halverson said he bases that prediction, in part, on a five-year increase in demands of the state police by local police units. Halverson said the state police's low-visibility support services like its crime laboratory are getting more use every year. Halverson said that to continue in all the roles now expected of the State Police, he is going to need more men, perhaps several hundred more. He said he now has members of his staff drafting proposals on how the state police time might be allocated and paid for. He said details are not yet complete, but a system might be worked out whereby local units would get state police service on an "allocated" basis. He said services over and above the allocations might be contracted for

Exxon Testing Pay-Cash Plan

HOUSTON (AP) - If you have the cash and stop at an Exxon service station in Abilene, Tex., and Charleston, S.C., you'll get a 5 per cent discount.

Exxon USA announced Monday that the discount program will be tested at participating service stations in the two cities, and a company spokesman said consideration would be given to expanding the program after its effect on sales is reviewed.

The spokesman said the program was developed in response to increasing consumer interest in plans which allow a choice of paying with cash or credit cards. The spokesman said Exxon expects the credit card to remain an important and popular aspect of petroleum marketing.

He said the new program is being launched under recent federal legislation allowing retailers to offer discounts of up to 5 per cent to cash customers so that only credit card users are charged for the cost of retail credit.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) -Volkswagen is ready to complete construction of its first American assembly plant.

Volkswagen takes possession of an abandoned, but never used, Chrysler plant after Pennsylvania and company of ficials sign a formal agreement ficials sign a formal agreement today. The agreement spells out financial incentives the state is giving Volkswagen to locate in New Stanton, 40 miles southeast of Pittsburgh.

Chrysler built the shell of the plant eight years ago, but abandoned it because of hard conomic times.

Volkswagen has been having economic troubles also, but its decision to open a U.S. plant coincided with a brighter outlook. Europe's largest au-tomaker last May announced auto sales profits after two straight years of losses. At full production, 5,000 workers will help assemble the VW Rabbit. That is 1,500 more people than the population of New Stanton, which has two general stores, four gas stations and a half-dozen motels bisected and a nail-dozen motes bisected by the Pennsylvania Turnpike. The Rabbit's arrival will mean 15,000 jobs for Pennsyl-vanians in related industries, according to Gov. Milton J Shapp, who made several trips to Germany to convince Volks-wagen officials to locate in Pennsylvania. Two Ohio sites also were in competition.

The Michigan survey will continue under the direction of F. Thomas Juster, who joined Katona said the loss of Schmiedskamp would be felt deeply at the center, but he praised the Gallup move, which he viewed not as competition but as "a wonderful gain for at-

"Gallup obviously doesn't have what we have," he said. Asked what that was, he replied, "Twenty years of past data to understand new data."

The move underscores the growing recognition that not only consumer ability but also willingness to spend is critical to the effectiveness of business and government programs, and that it can be measured and

Berrien sheriff's deputies said a spilled truckload o tomatoes early today caused a giant mess at the intersection of Pokagon road and M-140 that took a crew some 21/2 hours to Deputy Sam Donoho said approximately 13 tons of the 24ton load spilled when the truck rounded the corner from M-14 onto Pokagon road, Berrien township, about 4:30 a.m. Driver of the truck, Cletus Franklin Mann, 30, route 1, box 52, Maple Grove road, Berrien Center, was unhurt and was ticketed for spilling a load on the highway, Donoho said. Mann said the load shifted as he rounded the curve.

Donobo said the load of toma toes was headed for the Leonard Frank farm, Deans Hill road Berrien township, and a crew from the farm cleaned off the roadway. Donoho said a Berrien county road commission truck sanded the area because it was

VW Assembly Plant Nearing Completion

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) -Volkswagen is ready to complete construction of its first American assembly plant. Volkswagen takes possession of an abandoned, but never used, Chrysler plant after Pennsylvania and company officials sign a formal agreement today. The agreement spells out financial incentives the state is giving Volkswagen to locate in New Stanton, 40 miles southeast of Pittsburgh

Chrysler built the shell of the doned it because of hard economic times.

Volkswagen has been having economic troubles also, but its decision to open a U.S. plant coincided with a brighter outlook. Europe's largest automaker last May announced auto sales profits after two straight years of losses.

At full production, 5,000 workers will help assemble the VW Rabbit. That is 1,500 more people than the population of New Stanton, which has two general stores, four gas stations and a half-dozen motels bisected by the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The Rabbit's arrival will mean 15,000 jobs for Pennsylvanians in related industries, according to Gov. Milton . J. Shapp, who made several trips to Germany to convince Volkswagen officials to locate in Pennsylvania. Two Ohio sites also were in competition.

The final agreement was delayed for months while negotiators haggled over financing completion of the building. That

Gallup To Study Consumer Buying

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — The

Gallup Organization, wellknown marketing and attitude research firm, has decided to enlarge its role in the increasingly significant area of measuring consumer economics and buying intentions.

George Gallup, chairman, scheduled a luncheon here today to announce that Jay Schmiedeskamp, director of the famed Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan, will be employed to develop the program.

The Michigan survey will continue under the direction of F. Thomas Juster, who joined the organization four years ago, and George Katona, pioneer in consumer psychology and first director of the center, and Schmiedskamp's mentor.

Katona said the loss of Schmiedskamp would be felt deeply at the center, but he praised the Gallup move, which he viewed not as competition but as "a wonderful gain for attitudinal and psychological research.

He indicated, however, that the Gallup organization's efforts would initially be somewhat handicapped by the limitations of data

"Gallup obviously doesn't have what we have," he said. Asked what that was, he replied, "Twenty years of past data to understand new data." The move underscores the growing recognition that not only consumer ability but also willingness to spend is critical to the effectiveness of business and government programs, and that it can be measured and used for predicting.

Gallup thus joins the Survey Research Center, Sindlinger & Co. and The Conference Board, currently the major forces in the measurement through interviews, of consumer economics and psychology, a field that has grown slowly over a 30-year period.

Its development has been spurred by the rise in discretionary income, or income above that which must be used for immediate needs and which thus affords families the option of what to buy, or even of whether to buy or bank.

CMU Faculty Ratifies Pact

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) - The Central Michigan University faculty association has ratified an economic agreement with the university calling for 634 per cent salary hike in the current year. The vote Tuesday was 157 to 115. Some 407 faculty members, two-thirds of the total at CMU, belong to the association, officials said. The increase is the major item in contract, although minor changes were made in health and retirement benefits, officials said. This is the final year in a three-year faculty contract between the professors and the university. About 16,000 students are enrolled at the college.

Teenagers Go On Rampage

HAMTRAMCK, Mich. (AP) - A group of teen-agers rampaged through the halls of Hamtramck High School Tuesday, hitting students with broom handles and breaking windows, police said. Sgt. Arnold Morosky said the youths, all 15 and 16 year old boys believed to be from another Detroit high school, also took a small amount of money from the cash register in the school cafeteria. There was speculation that the youths might have been gang members, after police received phone calls about the incident from persons identifying themselves as belonging to two notorious east side youth gangs, the Errol Flynns and Black Killers. However, Morosky said he did not know whether the callers actually were from the gangs. Twelve of the youths were arrested after they fled the school, and were charged with malicious destruction of property, Morosky said. They were taken to the Wayne County Youth Home.

recipients, who are now self-supporting citizens, and, during the entire time of my employment as a Social Ser-vices worker, I have not, as yet, had a fraud case, All my high ratings by previous supervisors will give an idea of the qualitative and quantitative work I have performed. And, added to this, I am the Social Services worker who has been recognized for community work. I have seven awards indicating the communities appreciate the kind of services provided. On each case, I have provided in-depth service case work management, including all the forms as provided by the guidelines. This type of services, in my opinion, require face-to-face contacts with the recipients.

Although I was aware that many of the Social Services workers used the telephone and mail to do social work, I was not aware this was a policy until I read the memo, dated 6-21-76, from ad administrator condoning this form of social work practice. Is this a stated and approved policy of the Michigan State Department of Social Services? If I had known this months previously, I would have had a chance to make plans to do likewise. I do not plais to to include 1 to not see social work as only providing a check to the recipient every two weeks. I do believe a Social Services worker should be in a position to evaluate the recipient's physical and emotional needs, and and possess sufficient knowledge to do Something about it.

Two recent articles in the newspaper disturbed me greatly. Namely, the instance of the starving German Shepherd dog eating the equally starving infant, and the distressed mother who received the mail from the Social Ser yices worker and left the home to get food for the family. newspaper, the article "Young Jobless Dad Dead in Apparent Safeide Pact," was just as horrendous, it appears the father and his wife applied for welfare payments to help feed their three children. They were the property of the present days because they were the present days are the turned down because they were living together. Sarely, now the department is making haste to provide the family with assis-tance. However, any assistance provided will not compensate for the loss of a life. These are not isolated cases. Let us recall the article in the newspaper of the local ADC mother who was an honor mother who was an honor student, carned a scholarship, set for herself a goal, but found one of her greatest obstacles was her inability to acquire professional guidance through her Social Services worker. In her desperation, she appealed through the newspaper for help.

Any nation that does not take of its poor, is an uncivilized nation.

PROBATE LAW REFORM NEEDED

Editor.

The State of Michigan propate reform has been pursued since 1972, citizens and voters were urged to write their representatives how discontent they are with our present Probate Law. An item in the Herald-Palladium, April 11, 1973, stated public officials, businessmen, and heirs testified at hearings. They said they object to long delays, costs, such as legal, in Probate proceedings.

Senator R. Richardson (R. Saginaw) said a Probate code revision probably won't come up for a vote until next fall. I wonder if he referred specifically to the Fall of 1976. In 1975, we became aware of the Wisconsin (Do it yourself Probate Law) law enacted in 1973. This law is extremely favorable with the citizens and voters because no longer does the law handle their personal affairs, or is the citizen required in effect to pay a tax amounting hundreds or thousands of dollars for a service an in-dividual can perform himself. Governor Milliken admitted the 1899 inheritance tax law now on the books needs updating. He said this is not the time to be increasing any taxes in Michigan — especially taxes that have such an impact on Michigan's senior citizens. He added he received more than 1700 letters on the bill virtually all opposed to it. By all means it should be defeated.

Senator Charles Zollar's and our representatives' replies to my letters were very encouragstated he is sure the Probate reform bill will be reported out before the end of the pres session. This latest draft has the support of our local Probate Judges Lange and Burkholz

Representative Harry Gast, Jr., said it also appears to him that we have the general legislative support for Probate that we have the law reform.

READER SAYS FRA WILL BENESTY ALL

In regard to the letter by Rita Herman, published 9/9/76, pointing out some of the "liabilities" of the Equal Rights Amendment, may I suggest she

It states simply: Section I. Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex. Section II. The Congress shall have the power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article. Section III. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification.

The amendment will be a guide for future legislation and a statement of our country's policy. With the amendment in effect, no State could legislate discriminatory laws. All laws now existing that provide henefits to women would be extended to benefit men as well. (As in the Social Security Laws which would enable a man to draw on his wife's carnings as well as continue to enable a woman to draw on her hus-band's earnings). All laws now existing that take away rights from women would be invalidated.

The ERA will therefore benefit men as well as women.
It seems to me that Ms. Herman is reading a lot into the amendment that simply isn't there. It will not necessarily impose 50 percent of financial support on a woman with a family as it does not interfere with the private relations of men and women. Who provides financial support for a family is now and will continue to be a matter to be decided by hus-band and wife.

Nor will States be "compelled to set up tax payer - financed day care centers regardless of need." The amendment says nothing about this. Nor will jurisdiction over divorce, child custody, alimony, marriage, property and inheritance rights transferred to federal bureaucracies; some State laws will have to be revised to a basis of need verses ability, rather than a basis of sex, but essen tially the jurisdiction shall remain with the States.

As to the incurance rates an accident rates, not on sex and do not therefore need to be altered. upon actuaries and often provide fewer benefits for their "lower rates" to women. Regarding the legal protection against involuntary heavy lift-ing and overtime, it often serves only to keep able women from higher paying jobs. It is also a matter many Unions (including the UAW) are trying to extend to their male members.

And finally, yes, women will be subject to a military draft. There is no justification for serve and not able young women. That isn't fair to the men of our country. Parental, physical and other exemptions would apply to both sexes. Mothers, of course, would be protection against a draft now.

We are all citizens of this country and do all have obliga-tions to it. Today, however. approximately 90 percent of all military jobs are non-combatant (as it was during our most recent war) and it is highly unlikely that women would serve in combat.

In conclusion, may I state that many of Ms. Herman's remarks simply have no base. The Equal Rights Amendment is to the benefit of us all. We are all human beings first and for 51 percent of us to have only par-tial status under the law is ab-surd in this time and place. Her so called liabilities are largely misstatements and conjecture. I, therefore, urge you also, write your Congresspeople -- DO NOT vote to rescind Michigan's endursement of the ERA.

recipients, who are now selfsupporting citizens, and, during the entire time of my employment as a Social Services worker, I have not, as yet, had a fraud case. All my high ratings by previous supervisors will give an idea of the qualitative and quantitative work I have performed. And, added to this. I am the Social Services worker who has been recognized for community work. I have seven awards indicating the communities appreciate the kind of services I provided. On each case, I have provided in-depth service. case work management. including all the forms as provided by the guidelines. This type of services, in my opinion, require face-to-face contacts with the recipients.

Although I was aware that many of the Social Services workers used the telephone and mail to do social work, I was not aware this was a policy until I read the memo, dated 6-21-76, from ad administrator condoning this form of social work practice. Is this a stated and approved policy of the Michigan State Department of Social Services? If I had known this months previously, I would have had a chance to make plans to do likewise. I do not see social work as only providing a check to the recipient every two weeks. I do believe a Social Services worker should be in a position to evaluate the recipient's physical and emotional needs, possess sufficient and knowledge to do something about it.

Two recent articles in the newspaper disturbed me greatly. Namely, the instance of the starving German Shepherd dog eating the equally starving infant, and the distressed mother who received the mail from the Social Services worker and left the home to get food for the family. newspaper, the article "Young Jobless Dad Dead in Apparent Suicide Pact," was just as horrendous. It appears the father and his wife applied for welfare payments to help feed their three children. They were turned down because they were living together. Surely, now the department is making haste to provide the family with assistance. However, any assistance provided will not compensate for the loss of a life.

These are not isolated cases. Let us recall the article in the newspaper of the local ADC mother who was an honor student, earned a scholarship, set for herself a goal, but found one of her greatest obstacles was her inability to acquire professional guidance through her Social Services worker. In her desperation, she appealed through the newspaper for Any nation that does not take care of its poor, is an uncivilized nation.

America, where art thou? Mrs. Inez J. Holmes

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Inez J. Holmes, writer of the above letter, has appealed her dismissal as a staff member of the Berrien County Department of Social Services. A staff superior said her dismissal came for "resistance to follow department guidelines.'

MRS. WELLS SAYS THANK YOU

Editor.

To the very kind citizens of Benton Harbor who had confidence in me and supported me with their signature as a candidate for Commissioner at Large, even though I did not get the necessary signatures in on time, I sincerely say thank you. I have not given up and will persevere until the final say.

You will be hearing from me in the near future and so please continue to stand by.

I also thank the editor of this paper for publishing this letter. Mildred Wells

PROBATE LAW REFORM NEEDED

Editor. The State of Michigan probate reform has been pursued since 1972, citizens and voters were urged to write their representatives how discontent they are with our present Probate Law. An item in the Herald-Palladium, April 11, 1973, stated public officials, businessmen, and heirs testified at hearings. They said they object to long delays, costs, such as legal, in Probate proceedings.

Senator R. Richardson (Rrevision probably won't come up for a vote until next fall. I wonder if he referred specifically to the Fall of 1976.

In 1975, we became aware of the Wisconsin (Do it yourself Probate Law) law enacted in 1973. This law is extremely favorable with the citizens and voters because no longer does the law handle their personal affairs, or is the citizen required in effect to pay a tax amounting to hundreds or thousands of dollars for a service an individual can perform himself.

Governor Milliken admitted the 1899 inheritance tax law now on the books needs updating. He said this is not the time to be increasing any taxes in Michigan - especially taxes that have such an impact on Michigan's senior citizens. He added he received more than 1700 letters on the bill virtually all opposed to it. By all means it should be defeated.

Senator Charles Zollar's and our representatives' replies to my letters were very encouraging. Representative Ray Mittan stated he is sure the Probate reform bill will be reported out before the end of the present session. This latest draft has the support of our local Probate Judges Lange and Burkholz.

Representative Harry Gast, Jr., said it also appears to him that we have the general legislative support for Probate law reform.

READER SAYS ERA WILL BENEFIT ALL Editor.

In regard to the letter by Rita Herman, published 9/9/76, pointing out some of the "liabilities" of the Equal Rights Amendment, may I suggest she read it.

It states simply: Section I. Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex. Section II. The Congress shall have the power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article. Section III. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification. The amendment will be a guide for future legislation and a statement of our country's policy. With the amendment in effect, no State could legislate discriminatory laws. All laws now existing that provide benefits to women would be extended to benefit men as well. (As in the Social Security Laws which would enable a man to draw on his wife's earnings as well as continue to enable a woman to draw on her husband's earnings). All laws now existing that take away rights from women would be invalidated.

The ERA will therefore benefit men as well as women. It seems to me that Ms. Herman is reading a lot into the amendment that simply isn't there. It will not necessarily impose 50 percent of financial support on a woman with a family as it does not interfere with the private relations of men and women. Who provides financial support for a family is now and will continue to be a matter to be decided by husband and wife.

Nor will States be "compelled to set up tax payer — financed day care centers regardless of need." The amendment says nothing about this. Nor will jurisdiction over divorce, child custody, alimony, marrriage, property and inheritance rights be transferred to federal bureaucracies; some State laws will have to be revised to a basis of need verses ability, rather than a basis of sex, but essentially the jurisdiction shall remain with the States.

As to the insurance rates, automobile rates are based upon accident rates, not on sex and do not therefore need to be altered. Life insurance rates are based upon actuaries and often provide fewer benefits for their 'lower rates' to women. Regarding the legal protection against involuntary heavy lifting and overtime, it often serves only to keep able women from higher paying jobs. It is also a matter many Unions (including the UAW) are trying to extend to their male members.

And finally, yes, women will be subject to a military draft. There is no justification for requiring able young men to serve and not able young women. That isn't fair to the men of our country. Parental, physical and other exemptions would apply to both sexes. Mothers, of course, would be exempted!

May I point out that in the founding years and frontier days of our country women served as they were needed to powder cannons and fire rifles, During World War II, congress voted to draft female nurses, although President Truman vetoed it. So women have no real protection against a draft now.

We are all citizens of this country and do all have obligations to it. Today, however, approximately 90 percent of all military jobs are non-combatant (as it was during our most recent war) and it is highly unlikely that women would serve in combat.

In conclusion, may I state that many of Ms. Herman's remarks simply have no base. The Equal Rights Amendment is to the benefit of us all. We are all human beings first and for 51 percent of us to have only partial status under the law is absurd in this time and place. Her so called liabilities are largely misstatements and conjecture. I, therefore, urge you also, write your Congresspeople - DO NOT vote to rescind Michigan's endorsement of the ERA.

Less 'Bang!' More Laughter On Fall TV

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Besides commercials, what can one expect when the new TV season starts next week? A few ore chuckies, for one thing.
Situation comedy will be up slightly, 25 sitcoms this fall compared to 22 the last. This is because networks have the odd idea of trying to reduce complaints about violence by increasing laughter. Action-adventure, be it the gentle adventure of "Emergency" or the maybem-a-minute action of "Starsky and Hutch" will be down this fall — 23 shows are being offered, compared to 27 last September.

But you'll find more music-variety series, a total of seven, up three from the start of the 1973-76 prime time proceedings. Movie fare, whether made-for TV or thea-trical, will increase slightly. The networks are offering six movie nights in all this fall, compared to five last fall. The extra movie comes Wednesdays on NBC.

Serious drama, or melodrama, as cynics call the Hollywood brand of drama, will have four delegates this fall, compared to the solitary, ill-fated "Beacon Hill" of last September. The delegates are "Rich Man, Poor Man," "Family," "Executive Suite," and the "Best Sellers" series of dramatized novels.

Other facets of the new season in brief:

Three-In-One oil will find full use this fall. Last season, it had but two uses, for the metal parts of the "Bionic Woman" and "Six Million Dollar Man." Now the robot cop n "Holmes and Yoyo" will need it too.

Two new widowers — "McMillan" and "Doc" — will join the four returning widowers starring in "Sanford and Son,"

"Barnaby Junes," "Streets of San Francisco" and "The Practice." It will be explained that the Doc and McMillan ornues nave expired.

TV's sole divercee in "One Day at a Time" may wed her boyfriend. But marital woes loom in the "Rhoda" home. She and hubby are getting separated. Divorce? If it happens, it'll be her first, his second.

Nancy Walker, who plays Rhoda's mother and tends house for McMillan, has left both for her own series. With all the money ABC waved at her, what's a poor mother and housekeeper to do? Another defection: Michael Douglas is leaving "Streets of San Francisco" to "teach," the sories will say. Actually, he's going to labor on movies and other projects. Can't fool ne. John Amos, at his own request, is departing as the lather in "Good Times," but singer Della Reese is joining the regulars down at the "Chico and the Man" garage. And Funzie will get a girl friend. A major shift is afoot for everyone at "M-A-S-H." The opening show has them moving the entire hospital because Chinese troops are attacking nearby. The real reason is a bit more prosaic. The California Recreation and Parks Department has acquired the ranch on which the show used to be filmed. And everyone knows you can't have picules right in the middle of the Korean War.

Stay tuned for the big show...life is only the station break.

Less 'Bang!' More Laughter On Fall TV

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Besides commercials, what can one expect when the new TV season starts next week? A few more chuckles, for one thing.

Situation comedy will be up slightly, 25 siteoms this fall compared to 22 the last. This is because networks have the odd idea of trying to reduce complaints about violence by increasing laughter. Action-adventure, be it the gentle adventure of "Emergency" or the mayhem-a-minute action of "Starsky and Hutch" will be down this fall - 23 shows are being offered, compared to 27 last September.

But you'll find more music-variety series, a total of seven, up three from the start of the 1975-76 prime time proceedings. Movie fare, whether made-for-TV or theatrical, will increase slightly. The networks are offering six movie nights in all this fall, compared to five last fall. The extra movie comes Wednesdays on NBC

Serious drama, or melodrama, as cynics call the Hollywood brand of drama, will have four delegates this fall, compared to the solitary, ill-fated "Beacon Hill" of last September. The delegates are "Rich Man, Poor Man," "Family," "Executive Suite," and the "Best Sellers" series of dramatized novels.

Other facets of the new season in brief: Three-In-One oil will find full use this fall. Last season, it had but two uses, for the metal parts of the "Bionic Woman" and "Six Million Dollar Man." Now the robot cop on "Holmes and Yoyo" will need it too.

Two new widowers - "McMillan" and "Doc" - will join the four returning widowers starring in "Sanford and Son," "Barnaby Jones," "Streets of San Francisco" and "The Practice." It will be explained that the Doc and McMillan brides have expired. TV's sole divorcee in "One Day at a Time" may wed her boyfriend. But marital woes loom in the "Rhoda" home. She and hubby are getting separated. Divorce? If it happens, it'll be her first, his second.

Nancy Walker, who plays Rhoda's mother and tends house for McMillan, has left both for her own series. With all the money ABC waved at her, what's a poor mother and housekeeper to do?

Another defection: Michael Douglas is leaving "Streets of San Francisco" to "teach," the series will say. Actually, he's going to labor on movies and other projects. Can't fool me. John Amos, at his own request, is departing as the father in "Good Times," but singer Della Reese is joining the regulars down at the "Chico and the Man" garage. And Fonzie will get a girl friend. A major shift is afoot for everyone at "M-A-S-H." The opening show has them moving the entire hospital because Chinese troops are attacking nearby. The real reason is a bit more prosaic. The California Recreation and Parks Department has acquired the ranch on which the show used to be filmed. And everyone knows you can't have picnics right in the middle of the Korean War.

Stay tuned for the big show...life is only the station break.
